SECOND EDITION!

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN

Opened in Patriotic Style Yesterday

BY PROMINENT PUBLIC SPEAKERS

Governor McKinley Makes a Decidedly Strong Speech on the Tariff.

WOODSALE ISLAND PARK, O., September 10.—The anniversary of Perry's victory on Lake Erie was chosen by the Ohio League of Republican clubs to open the campaign in Ohio.

Hon. Whitelaw Reid, Governor McKinley, ex-Governor Foraker, Hon. H. Clay Evans of Tennessee, Hon. Bellamy Storer, General H. H. Houston of Kentucky, Hon. J. A. Caldwell and others received an enthusiastic reception at the park.

Governor McKinley was one of the speakers. He began his address by saying that no political party can long hold the public confidence which bases its claims to confidence on the disappointments of the people. This, he said, had been the case with the Democratic party for more than thirty years, and all through these years the Democratic party had been predicting the failure of Republican policies, and now they declare that the tariff of 1890 is a failure and will bring distress upon the American people. Another thing about the Democratic party he said, is that when it gets into power it is disappointing, and to honest and well meaning Democrats an humiliation.

Made a Fuse.

SANTA CRUZ, September 10. — The Democratic county convention was held today. A fusion with the People's Party was formed on a basis of the People's Party supporting the Democratic nominee for senator, and the Democrats supporting the People's Party candidate for assemblyman. Hon. Thomas Beck was chairman of the convention. The following nominations were made: Assembly, P. R. Adams; county clerk, W. P. Netherton; sheriff, Jesse Cope; district attorney, M. Cassin.

Merced Politics.

MERCED, September 10.—The Republican county convention this afternoon nominated C. A. H. Worfield for sheriff, B. F. Fowler for district attorney, E. C. Morgan for surveyor, James Leonard for county clerk, A. G. Clough for coroner, A. F. Hastings for recorder, Frank Pfitzer for treasurer and Sam King for auditor.

The Democratic county convention this afternoon nominated E. T. Dixon for sheriff, William Conley for district attorney, W. P. Stoneroad for surveyor, J. G. Elliott for clerk, W. N. Sherman for coroner, Jeff Fruit for recorder, R. F. Bartlett for treasurer and N. Breen for auditor.

FIFTEEN WERE KILLED

IN A RAILROAD COLLISION NEAR BOSTON.

Escaping Steam Added to the Horror of the Scene of Mangled Humanity.

BOSTON, September 10.—A terrible accident occured at about 10:40 tonight at Watertown Junction, on the Pittsburg railroad, caused by the westward bound express freight telescoping the rear car of the 10.15 Waltham passenger train from Boston.

Fifteen were killed and wounded, and already taken from the wreck, and it is believed there are more beneath the debris.

While the train was standing on the main line, the express freight, which followed from the Boston yard, crashed into the rear car, crushing it into pieces and jamming its human freight beneath the ruins.

The force of the collision smashed the front end of the boiler and cylinders and the escaping steam added horror to the situation of those already imprisoned.

Many were taken from the wreck terribly scalded, in addition to other injuries.

As yet it is impossible to say how large the list of fatalities will be.

It is claimed a fog prevailed at the time of the accident.

Corbett Makes a Speech.

ATLANTA, Ga., September 10.—Corbett and Daly appeared at the opera house tonight and sparred three friendly rounds. The house was packed with 4000 paying visitors to see the set-to. Corbett was given a very hearty reception. In a speech he said that John L. Sullivan, the defeated heavy-weight, was champion for ten years, and that if he could hold it half that long he would consider himself fortunate.

SELMA REPUBLICANS

Hold a Rousing Meeting Last Night.

The Republicans of Selma held a campaign meeting in the Unger opera house at that place last night. There was a generous attendance and the interest was heightened as the meeting progressed. The colored contingent was on hand and they sang a number of harmonious selections.

Senator J. W. Bones of Fresno made an excellent speech, and Judge Frank H. Short delivered an address in his well known convincing style. Each speaker reviewed the deplorable condition of the county government and the misuse of the confidence of the people. National issues were taken up and dwelt upon in an able manner.

Among those who went down from Fresno were Dr. A. G. Deardorff, Jay Scott, Dr. M. V. Yancey, W. A. Shepherd, George L. Hoxie, John W. McLaughlin, G. N. Freman and others. The Fresnoans returned on the morning train.

The First Raisins.

If J. B. Williams was a little proud yesterday he certainly had reason to be so. Mr. Williams sent the first raisins of the season to market and wants it known that the district that outstripped its competitors is Clifton, where he has as thrifty a vineyard as can be found in the county. There were two tons of the raisins and they were all first grade, of fine flavor and bloom. They were delivered at the packing house of the Fresno Home Packing company. George M. McWhorter brought the raisins to town.

RAISIN MEETING.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM THE EAST.

The Selma Co-operative Packing Company Is Still Holding Out.

The State Raisin Growers' association met yesterday afternoon in Iroquois hall. Captain C. H. Norris called the meeting to order at 2:40 o'clock.

The secretary made a report and read several letters from brokers in the east, from which it would appear that the prices agreed upon between the association and the packers had been steadily maintained in the eastern market; and the packers reported that large sales had been made, and in some instances as much as the whole of the first crop controlled by the firms making the report.

Several growers attended from Selma and stated that they were heartily in accord with the pledge they had given to the association, and that they would only do business with such packers as signed the agreement with the association to keep up prices. They were members of the Selma Co-operative packing house, and while most of the directors were willing and desirous of joining the association, yet Mr. Frank Rowell and Mr. Barr had up to the present successfully opposed this co-operative packing house coming into the association.

Wm. Harvey, the secretary, reported that Selma was the only co-operative packing house as far as he knew in the whole state that had not most cordially supported the movement of the association to keep up prices and enrolled itself under the agreement to do so.

Several of the Selma packers present at the meeting asked what they were to do. They were advised to see the stockholders of the company and in general meeting assembled to give preemptory instructions to their directors to give the necessary undertaking to keep up prices.

It was moved by Mr. Gose of Selma, seconded by Mr. L. C. Jolly of the same place, and carried unanimously that the secretary be instructed to correspond with the directors of the Selma co-operative packing company and request them to join the movement.

Captain Starrett addressed the meeting and maintained that the greatest mistake and injury to the raisin growers had resulted from the fact that the growers had intrusted their crops to irresponsible commission men, who had taken the raisins and slaughtered them in the east without the least regard for the interest of the grower, and he advocated the establishment of a raisin exchange.

Meeting adjourned to meet again the 24th instant at 10 a.m.

MODEL STORES.

IMPROVEMENTS IN SOUTH I STREET.

The Mammoth Establishment of the Poor Man's Friend Now Completed.

The block on I street between Mariposa and Tulare streets, has in the past few years become one of the busiest retail marketing places in Fresno.

As a consequence magnificent stores have been erected in this part of town, where enterprising merchants display in well dressed show windows the goods they are offering to the public.

Business has so prospered in the neighborhood that twice during the past year has the Poor Man's Friend people found it necessary to extend their premises. A short time ago it was decided to make the stores large enough to accommodate the enormously increased business of the concern, and the adjoining premises were secured and the stores extended back 54 feet. The new stores cover 5940 square feet and are thought to be the largest general retail stores in the San Joaquin valley. There are four grand departments, the Dry Goods, the Boot and Shoe, the Clothing and the Millinery, each in itself an immense store, well stocked with merchandise.

In the Dry Goods and Millinery departments there is everything in ladies' wear and household goods. In the Clothing department may be found everything for gentlemen's wear, including furnishing goods, hats, and in fact everything from a pants button to the finest dress suit and overcoat.

The store made its reputation as the "cheapest place in the valley" by selling clothing and boots and shoes of standard makes at away below the prices charged in other stores. As people became posted on the square dealing business methods of the Poor Man's Friend the business prospered and the firm took the leading place in Fresno in the two articles of clothing and boots and shoes.

Soon their thousands of customers began to inquire for dry goods, arguing that as they had saved so many dollars on purchases of clothing and shoes at the Poor Man's Friend, they could save much more if dry goods were handled by this house. As a consequence of this general demand the dry goods department was added.

Goods were bought in Europe and the east and every effort was made to place on the shelves the best assorted stock of dry goods in the valley. The efforts have been crowned with success. The proprietors are justly proud of what they have accomplished in this direction.

Tomorrow (Monday) will be opening day at the Poor Man's Friend. Instead of spending hundreds of dollars for music, souvenirs, etc., the happy idea was hit upon of giving the customers the benefit of this money in addition to the lowest prices in dry goods, boots and shoes and clothing that has ever been quoted here.

The plan is to give the goods purchased at every tenth sale to the customer making the purchase.

This is done in order to attract attention to the sale, which is really the most remarkable ever held in Fresno.

The grand new store is arranged in the most convenient way for business, with each department loaded down with an enormous stock. All new goods, with prices on all lines lower than ever, and with the unprecedented gift scheme, the opening of the Poor Man's Friend's new stores will be the event of the week. Everybody is invited to the opening.

A WEIGHTY QUESTION

Is Our Present Registration Illegal?

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Registration Was Begun Sooner Than Required by Section 1094 of the Political Code.

Some disquietude is felt by the board of supervisors and the county clerk over the questioning of the legality of the present registration. Yesterday morning J. W. Shanklin, secretary of the Republican central committee of this county, appeared before the board and presented the following letter for their consideration:

"J. W. Shanklin, Esq: We are in receipt of many communications asking for advice concerning the changes made in the law of registration. These questions have been submitted to our legal committee, and for general information we desire to state that under section 1094 of the political code all registration must commence within 100 days of the election and continue for eighty-five days thence next ensuing, when such registration shall close. Where clerks have commenced before that time such registration is not legal, and the voter must re-register within the 100 days. All must re-register, whether registered previously or not, it being the intention to have an entirely new register.

It is the opinion of the legal committee that all citizens desiring to vote at the next general election should cause themselves to be registered during the time indicated in section 1094. All those who have registered prior to that time should be registered over again, in order to have their names appear legally upon the registers of their respective counties. Should they not do so a challenge of their vote upon that ground could be legally sustained.

[Sig.] C. F. BASSETT,
Secretary Republican State Central Committee."

The supervisors discussed the matter and seemed to have grave doubts concerning the validity of the present registration. It was decided therefore to obtain the opinion of Judge McKinstry on this important question, and a telegram was sent him asking for such opinion immediately.

Should the position taken by the Republican state committee be the correct one the county would be out $4000 or $5000. Whether this could be recovered from the official or officials to blame for the blunder is a question that would have to be decided in the courts.

The supervisors canceled the old register at a meeting held by them on the 10th of last January, at which time they also ordered a new register to be made. Extra clerks were put on soon after that, and registration begun. The heaviest registration was between that date and May 7th, the date of the Democratic primaries. About 6000 voters registered between the first named date and the date the registration should, according to section 1094 of the Political Code, have begun.

This work cost the county, so near as can be ascertained, about $2000. If it had to be done over again the cost would probably be as much, making a total of $4000. This is considered a too modest estimate by some people, who put the cost of the blunder at $5000 or $6000.

County Clerk A. C. Williams was asked for information concerning the matter and stated that he believed the registration was valid. He had written to the Democratic state committee concerning the matter and they had referred it to Garrett McEnerney, who gave the opinion that the registration was legal, but if there was any question about it to make a new one.

Referring to section 1094, Mr. Williams said that he believed the portion requiring the registration to commence 100 days before the general election was directory in its meaning rather than peremptory, very much like the provision requiring a judgment to be entered within twenty-four hours after it had been rendered.

In answer to the question as to whether the official or officials would be held responsible for the loss to the county should the registration be pronounced the illegal, Mr. Williams said he did not think they could. He had acted in accordance with the order of the board of supervisors. Besides, over three-fourths of the counties in the state were in the same position as Fresno county.

The minutes of the supervisors were examined and it was found that the board had ordered a new register, in conformity to section 1094 of the Political Code. In view of this the board cannot be charged with ordering the registration to begin then and there, but should the meaning of the section be held to be peremptory, they are evidently to blame for allowing claims for the work of illegal registration.

The question is being discussed with considerable interest, and the opinions of competent authorities are awaited with impatience. It is important that this matter be settled immediately or great inconvenience will result.

A GOOD IDEA.

J. M. Ryan to Erect an Election Booth for Instruction.

J. M. Ryan has hit upon an enterprising idea, which he will carry out some time this week.

He has decided to erect a booth in his place on Mariposa street and employ a man to instruct those who desire to know how to vote under the new ballot law of this state.

The booth will be patterned after the one adopted by the supervisors of this county and the ballots will be a fac simile of the official one.

A man thoroughly conversant with the law and having at the same time the quality of making himself understood will be in charge and give such information as the voter may need to enable him to cast his vote properly.

UNKNOWN ASSASSINS.

The verdict of the coroner's jury that Louis B. McWhirter came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by unknown persons, is the verdict that was expected by all who were acquainted with the main facts in the case. Unless entirely new evidence, unknown except to those who investigated the case, had been brought before the jury, it could not in reason have found any other verdict.

The inquest has been a remarkable one. The determined and persistent effort on the part of the "prosecution" to prove that the deceased had committed suicide, with apparently no evidence in their possession to justify such a theory, is without a parallel in the history of coroners' inquests in this state and probably in any other. The proceedings throughout had more the character of a trial than an inquest, in which the deceased was the defendant. This would not have been so remarkable had any evidence been adduced to justify even in a slight degree the conclusion that McWhirter had taken his own life, but as no such evidence was brought out, the whole affair is given a more unpleasant and sinister aspect than it would otherwise have had. It has but served to make darker the shadow which rests upon the bloody deed.

During the proceedings some mysterious references were made to startling evidence which could be produced to disprove the accepted theory of assassination. If such evidence could be produced, why was it not? If there is such evidence the fact should be known, and known at once. The interests of Fresno, as well as that of individual citizens, demand that it should be known. Upon Fresno now rests the stigma of an assassination as brutal and cowardly as was ever committed. If it lies within the power of anyone to remove that stigma, justice demanded imperatively that the facts necessary to effect that result should have been laid before the jury upon which rested the responsibility of announcing to the world the nature of the tragedy which had been committed.

If there be such evidence, let it be published to the world without further delay.

If there is no such evidence worthy of the consideration of unprejudiced men, then let the verdict of the jury be the signal for a tireless determination to drag the assassins from their hiding and expose to the light of day all the facts which surround the black conspiracy.

THE announcement of Wright D. Bresee, Republican nominee for assemblyman from the Sixty-third district, appears in this issue of THE REPUBLICAN. There are few candidates in this campaign who are better known to the people of Fresno county than Mr. Bresee. He has made two thorough canvasses of the county as the nominee of his party for recorder, and the fact that he ran ahead of his ticket in both instances attests his popularity among the voters of the county. Mr. Bresee is a young man, but has had a large business experience and is thoroughly informed in regard to the needs of the county. He will undoubtedly be an easy winner in the present canvass, as the Sixty-third district has a decided majority of Republican voters.

IF the Clevelandites can afford to damn Tammany for the Peck report the Republicans can afford to smile while the swearing is going on. The more there is of that sort of thing the safer New York will be for Harrison and Reid.

COUNTRY Democratic papers are becoming alarmed. They are afraid they will have to enlarge their columns to find room for that letter of acceptance which Grover has been sweating over during the hot days of August and September.

IT is now believed that Evans and Sontag became disgusted with this raisin weather and have gone back to the mountains to cool off.

IN this race the Holdfasts are weighted down like pack mules with the sins of party bosses. And they are still piling up the load.

IF you don't read THE REPUBLICAN you don't know what is going on in Fresno county and the rest of the world.

CALIFORNIA has been out-trotted, but comes serenely to the front with the hardest hitter under the smiling canopy.

PECK'S PARALYZER.

Peck's labor report fairly paralyzed the Democratic party, and now that the first stunning effect has passed away, the clamor of savage denunciation and charges of inaccuracy, unfairness and the like rise loud and angrily above the din of conflict. As a matter of fact, the same report, practically, had been made by Bradstreet's trade journal and other reliable publications, but coming in the form of an official report, from a Democratic official at that, and after a most searching investigation, the Democratic managers realize that its effect will be far more damaging to their cause than it would otherwise have been. They know full well that the laboring men of the country who may have been inclined to listen to free trade sophistries will not fail to heed the lesson of actual experience under the present tariff. A few Democratic papers, far from the centers of political information, have made the statement that Peck's report does not cover the year 1891, the period affected by the McKinley tariff, but this will not long deceive their readers, as the Democratic campaign committee has decided to begin an investigation of the report for that year. The times are out of joint with the Democratic party, indeed, when it is found necessary to investigate the reliability of reports made by their own officials.

THE question is being asked by a great many people: Is Deputy District Attorney Welsh booked to be a deputy of Mr. Van Meter in the event of the latter's election?

Bad Blood

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impregnated with the effete matter. The old Sarsaparillas attempt to reach this condition by attacking the blood with the drastic mineral "potash." The potash theory is old and obsolete. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels to healthful action, and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels. Chas. Lee, at Beamish's Third and Market streets, S. F., writes: "I took it for vitiated blood and while on the first bottle became convinced of its merits, for I could feel it was working a change. It cleansed, purified and braced me up generally, and everything is now working full and regular."

JOY'S Vegetable Sarsaparilla

Many druggists have a cheaper Sarsaparilla than Joy's. As they make more on it, they'll try to sell you it. Insist on Joy's.

BY UNKNOWN PERSONS

Verdict Reached in Fresno's Celebrated Case.

TESTIMONY OF THE CLOSING DAY

Dramatic Scenes in the Last Hours of the McWhirter Inquest.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the coroner, jurors and witnesses in the McWhirter murder case reassembled in Judge Holmes' court room. It was the third day of the inquisition, and a verdict was returned at 4.40 o'clock p. m. There was a large crowd of spectators, and interest was unabated during the entire day. Many thought that unusual developments would be made, and they were not disappointed, as the following testimony and subsequent investigation will show. The first witness called in the morning was

He stated that on the night of the shooting he was at General Muller's house, about three blocks from McWhirter's residence. He and the General were awakened by the shooting, and they also heard cries. They arose and dressed and ran to the house, reaching it just as Mr. McWhirter's body was being carried in. Major Wright says that he counted eight shots, six of them in rapid succession and brief pauses between the others. He thought he heard two voices crying as if in distress. He was satisfied that some one was hurt, and thought it his duty to go to their relief. Very shortly after reaching the house two policemen arrived and at once a search was instituted for the perpetrators. He, in company with others, made an examination of the bullet holes, and he thought they were not all the same size. He tested them with a lead-pencil. It would enter the hole in the top of the closet, but not the one in the rear. Neither would the pencil fit the hole in the fence near the opening. Major Wright said that the shooting appeared to him as though some one had rapidly emptied a six-shooter and then two shots had followed, but slowly.

JUDGE TINNIN'S TESTIMONY.

Judge Wiley J. Tinnin then took the stand and narrated conversations he had had with McWhirter concerning probable violence to his person. This was before Mr. McWhirter went to the mountains. The context of Mr. McWhirter's remarks was concerning a strained political condition, in which he made mention of the pronounced hostility of some persons. On the night of the shooting Judge Tinnin retired at 9.15 o'clock. He arose late in the night, just before the shooting, but had returned to bed before the shots were fired. He counted seven shots, some close together and others at intervals. Mrs. Tinnin was awake at the time of the shooting, and they both counted the shots. They each heard the same number of shots. He had heard the clock strike 3 just a few minutes before the shooting.

JUDGE FRANK H. SHORT

Was the next witness called. He stated that it was about 8 o'clock on Monday morning when he went to the scene of the shooting. He saw the bullet marks and also tracks in the alley, which he measured. They had a northern direction and were made by a shoe that had no heel. The track was 11¾ inches long, 3¾ inches across the toe and three inches across the heel. The length of the step was about five feet. He did not examine the alley for tracks toward the south. There was a second track toward the north. Judge Short said that he had made the examination simply to gratify his own curiosity, and had no intention of becoming an expert. He said he had no doubt at that time that thorough and accurate examinations had been made by better experts than he. In reply to this Mr. Thornton said:

"You need not, Mr. Short, depreciate your ability as an expert in comparison with some of the so-called experts who have made examinations in this case. You found quite as much as they did."

RECORDER FRANK LANING

Testified concerning the boards which had been knocked from the fence and the dents in them. In one there were seven and in the other were nine. The boards were first taken to his office and then taken to the sheriff's office by Deputy Constable Ward. The recorder's testimony brought out nothing new concerning the bullet marks.

W. N. HOHNER

Stated that he lives near the McWhirter residence and heard the shooting. He was of opinion that there were seven or eight shots, but Mrs. McWhirter's screams had interrupted his counting. He sprang out of bed and went to the scene, entering by the front gate. He met Mrs. McWhirter, who told him that her husband had been shot, and in company with others he helped carry the body into the house.

DR. DEARDORFF ON THE STAND.

At 10:30 o'clock a short recess was taken and at its conclusion Dr. A. G. Deardorff took the witness stand. He was at his home on the night of the murder and heard and counted the shots. There were seven of them. He heard no cries during the shooting. In answer to a question concerning life insurance, Dr. Deardorff stated that he had examined Mr. McWhirter for insurance on the 24, 18th and 23d of March. In conversation upon the subject Mr. McWhirter had told him that the campaign was coming on and he expected to take an active part in it. He told the doctor that he had many political enemies and he feared his life would be attempted. If such should happen he wanted to leave his family in good circumstances. They talked upon the same subject several times, the last occasion being about two or three days before Mr. McWhirter's death.

NAMES HE HAD MENTIONED.

Dr. Deardorff was asked if Mr. McWhirter had ever mentioned any names to him when speaking of the sources from which he expected trouble. The doctor answered that Mr. McWhirter said he feared it from the leaders of the Iroquois club. A pause occurred and the audience listened eagerly as the testimony progressed. Then the question was asked:

"Did he mention the names of the leaders of the Iroquois club?"

"He did."

"Whom did he name?"

"He named Senator Goucher and R. B. Terry, and he spoke of Judge Harris as being one of his worst enemies."

"Did he name any one else?"

"Yes, he named some as being of less importance, among them being Senator Goucher's partner; I think his name is Jacobs."

GIVING EXPERT TESTIMONY.

The doctor stated, in answer to another question, that he had been familiar with gunshot wounds since 1879. When asked if it were possible for Mr. McWhirter to have held the pistol in his hand and inflicted the wound which caused his death, he answered that he did not think it possible, illustrating the reasons therefor by pointing the pistol toward the heart.

Concerning the powder burns upon the clothing worn by the dead man, it was the doctor's opinion that the pistol inflicting the wound had been fired at a distance of from two to four feet. Had it been held nearer the unburned grains of powder would have entered the wound, but there were none present. The clothes were stained with powder, but were not powder burned.

THOMAS H. LYNCH.

Thomas H. Lynch, bookkeeper of the Farmers' bank, testified concerning some renewal receipts which an insurance company had sent to the bank for collection. He said that Mr. McWhirter had been notified and he had said he would call and pay them on September 2d.

JOHN B. EASTWOOD

was recalled to testify concerning the boards which had been knocked from the fence near the water closet. He gave his information and then said that the gate leading into the alley was tightly shut, there having been some fault with the latch and it would not open.

J. E. BAKER.

J. E. Baker, the editorial writer of the Expositor, stated that he had known McWhirter about five years, ever since he had been in Fresno, and was intimately acquainted with him. He had several conversations with McWhirter as to anticipated trouble, and the last was on the Sunday preceding the killing, when McWhirter had remarked, while he and the witness were sitting in the yard, "I believe these fellows will have me assassinated. I have changed my mind as to the danger. I formerly thought the animosity against me would go no further than an attempt to get me in their power and then club me. But I have changed my mind."

The conversation which led up to this was given by the witness.

Mr. McWhirter said further that he was carrying a $60,000 life insurance, which was too much of a burden and he would drop part of it after the campaign.

THE DANGER GREAT.

When Mr. Baker asked Mr. McWhirter if he didn't think the danger was somewhat exaggerated, the latter had replied that he did not think so.

Then the witness had asked him why he did not leave Fresno, and the reply was that it would look too much like running, but that after the election was over he would probably look around for some more congenial place.

THE ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

As to certain anonymous letters which it was said the deceased had received, the witness said that about two and a half months ago he went into McWhirter's office about 9 o'clock in the morning and that McWhirter had just opened his morning mail, and among other pieces of mail matter were two letters, which McWhirter shoved over to him, saying: "I get a good many of that sort." The witness read both letters, they being short. One was written in a loose, clumsy hand, evidently disguised. This letter contained no threat, and said something about "sticking your nose into other people's business," "telling lies," and a few more such expressions.

The other letter was written with pen and ink, but the letters were in the style of printed capitals, and not ordinary script.

The witness had read this letter, but had kept no copy of it. However, he believed he could reproduce it from memory almost verbatim, and he gave it as follows:

"You —— of a ——, if you don't quit meddling with everybody's business, you will be planted where you won't grow."

McWhirter remarked at the same time he did not keep any of these anonymous letters, as they could be of no use to him, and he did not know who wrote them, and it was best not to pay any attention to them.

THE SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.

Mr. Baker gave a detailed account of what McWhirter had told him concerning a strange and suspicious man who had been following him.

McWhirter had described the man as rather large, weighing about 175 pounds, loosely yet athletically built, with short, black mustache.

In passing through the court house park one night he found the man, and they were near enough together for McWhirter to see his appearance. As McWhirter turned out the walk leading to L street the stranger passed on to M street, and when McWhirter had crossed L street to the church he saw the stranger standing at the corner of M, and seemed to be watching from that place.

Once, while in the Palm Garden, opposite the Hughes hotel, he had discovered this stranger standing on the sidewalk in such a manner that he could just look past the side of the screen and see McWhirter.

Earlier on this same evening McWhirter, while in front of Noon's place, on J street, saw this same man standing on the corner at the Fresno National bank, seeming to be watching.

That night in going home, when McWhirter reached General Muller's house he saw the man again. Then again, in passing Judge Short's house, although not in the direct road home, the stranger put in an appearance again.

HUNTING THE FOLLOWER.

In speaking to the witness of this, McWhirter had said that, if he ever should see this man again, he would follow him until he should find out his name and business.

Several times Mr. Baker and Mr. McWhirter had looked for the man, trying to see him on the streets, but had never been able to see him.

THE TWO PISTOLS.

Mr. Baker was asked if he knew of McWhirter having any other pistol beside the one found by his dead body. The answer was:

"Yes, he told me once that I was in danger and he offered me a 38 pistol, but I declined it, saying that I would get a soda bottle and shoot my foes with that."

HIS EXPERT TESTIMONY.

The witness was asked if he had ever had any experience with firearms and the wounds they inflicted. He answered that he was a soldier three years and had seen thousands of men killed by gun shot wounds. His opinion as an expert was that the shot which killed McWhirter had been fired at a distance of not less than two nor more than four feet. Had it been nearer the powder burns would have been different. He also gave it as his opinion that it was impossible for McWhirter to have shot himself in the manner and the direction indicated in the fatal wound. He could not have held the pistol and pulled the trigger so as to have sent the bullet in that direction.

FAMILIAR WITH THE PREMISES.

The witness had lived at McWhirter's house several weeks, and was familiar with the premises. He had been in the closet between 5 and 6 o'clock Sunday evening, and the boards were not off the fence.

THE SEVENTH BULLET.

The testimony of several witnesses was that there were seven shots heard. Some had counted them. Judge Tinnin had counted them aloud to his wife. The officers and detectives who had made their examination of the premises had never been able to find the trace of more than six bullets. Two were in the closet, three in the alley fence and one in Mr. McWhirter's heart. They found no more. The two pistols left on the ground had three chambers each empty, making six shots in all. If there were seven shots it could be explained only by supposing that another pistol did it.

Mr. Baker was asked if he had found any bullet marks besides those already mentioned.

His answer was, that in company with Crittenden Thornton, Lee Blasingame and W. P. Thompson, he had searched for bullet marks, and had found one in the fence on the north side of the yard. The bullet had gone through a gunny sack there, had struck beyond, and had ricocheted, or glanced, and embedded itself in a board beyond.

This explained the seven shots. The most careful measurements were made, and accurate directions taken, and it was seen that the shot was fired by a person who stood at the alley fence, either inside or just outside, very near where the two bullets had gone through the alley fence, and buried themselves in A. M. Clark's fence beyond.

A bullet fired from this point would have passed near, but a little to the right of the spot where McWhirter fell. When the shot was fired the one who fired it must have stood within two and a half feet of the bullet holes in the alley fence.

EVIDENCES OF A STRUGGLE.

Mr. Baker was on the ground shortly after the tragedy. Although many people had trampled upon the ground, yet he felt certain that he could see traces of a struggle in front of the closet door. The ground looked as if it had been scraped into ridges by feet of persons struggling. The mask had one corner torn out, as if it had been torn from the assassin's face.

At the conclusion of Mr. Baker's testimony the inquest was adjourned until 1.30 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The attendance in the afternoon was even greater than the morning crowd. It was 1.35 o'clock when Coroner Brown announced the reopening of the inquest. A photographer was stationed in the rear of the court room and he secured views of the principal witnesses, as well as prominent personages in attendance.

Dr A. J. Pedlar was the first witness called, and Crittenden Thornton said that four days more might be occupied, if present lines of evidence were pursued. Mr. Welsh, in response said that he didn't care if it took four weeks; he proposed to act solely in the interests of the people of the county. Turning to Mr. Thornton, he asked him if he thought he was employed in the interests of the insurance companies.

"Oh, don't let us have any ifs in this case. As district attorney you should be informed whether McWhirter came to his death by murderous or suicidal means."

Mr. Welsh answered that he had certain facts in his possession, which he would disclose to the jury, provided they desired to hear them.

Mr. Thornton moved that the court take a recess until the jurors could determine among themselves whether they desired any more evidence, and, if so, to what particular point.

Pending the decision upon this point, more wrangling ensued, but finally an implied agreement was reached and the examination proceeded.

AN EXPERT CARPENTER.

E. L. Davis was placed on the stand, and said: I am foreman in charge of the new court house additions. I have been in the building business for thirteen years. [Here the deputy district attorney showed him the clubs and saw, and he said he had examined them in the district attorney's office about three days ago.] My opinion then was that the clubs had been cut with this saw. There is a tooth knocked off on the left-hand side of the saw blade, and that would make such a mark as any ragged-edge saw would cause. I found some sawdust on the saw at that time. The clubs were cut, evidently, by a saw of this same size or set. [The witness then retired to procure the dust taken from the saw teeth.]

LEE BLASINGAME.

In his absence Lee Blasingame was placed upon the stand again. In the use he had made of the saw, he said he had taken it from its place in the chicken house for the purpose of examination. "I thought it had been unused for several days, then I laid it up on a nail box, where Sheriff Hensley found it on Monday noon, when we were making a general inspection of the premises. I don't know anything beyond what has been testified in this inquest."

SOME CROSS QUESTIONING.

Mr. Welsh—Do you know, from information, anything that would throw a light upon this investigation?

Mr. Blasingame—I know nothing beyond what has been already revealed in the inquest.

Mr. Thornton—What do you know concerning the track of the seventh bullet?

Mr. Blasingame—I worked in company with several others in a general search, but I was not present when the bullet's course was found. I have sized up the probable course. It might have been fired from several points in a range about the gate, slightly south or near it.

Mr. Thornton—Did you see any one cut an osage orange branch near the corner of San Joaquin street?

Mr. Blasingame—Yes; I saw where the limb had been cut. It was an old limb and was grass-grown, and shows its original length. The sawdust was carefully gathered up at the scene. The box of nails in evidence is composed of a miscellaneous lot of such small stuff as will accumulate about a house and lot. The majority of the nails are rusty and have been exposed to the weather. The office building has been erected since January 1st. The nails are general purpose nails. I have lived at Mrs. McWhirter's house since the murder. The nail box was moved without my knowledge or permission.

DETECTIVE BURY TESTIFIES.

I am a detective, employed by the Curtin agency, San Francisco. I have been in Fresno since August 29th. I came here originally on the Sontag train robbery case. I was in town on the morning of the McWhirter murder. I have been a detective for five years. I was employed by three citizens—J. R. White, F. G. Berry and the district attorney, to work on this case. There used to be an osage orange hedge on A. M. Clark's place. I met a man out of town who said there was a fallen osage tree on the Clark lot. We drove to the place. I borrowed a saw at the soda factory and sawed off a piece, in company with James Ward. We cut it off for the purpose of ascertaining the age of the club. Mr. Ward cut the other piece here in evidence. I began to work on this case in the afternoon of the killing. I have made a partial examination of the premises. I also located the suspected parties. I have had the mask, pistol and clubs in my possession. I got them from Sheriff Hensley under the direction of the district attorney. I have been working impartially under the direction of the district attorney. The pistol here in evidence was made in Hartford, Conn., and shipped to San Francisco in May. Since that time I have lost record of its ownership.

M. Welsh. Have you any new theories to advance? [showing him the vial of sawdust.]

"We got this sawdust in a hen's nest in the chicken coop. There were saw marks on the boards and this is the sawdust Morgan and I found. The chicken house is in the northern side of the yard. I have made a thorough search in regard to the mask.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

Crittenden Thornton—When did you first form the opinion of self destruction?

Mr. Bury—I have formed no opinion and will form none until this case is concluded.

Mr. Thornton—You understand McWhirter's place is surrounded by trees and walls?

Mr. Bury—Yes.

Mr. Thornton—Do you mean to say that you only made a superficial examination of the premises in order to locate a murder?

Bury—No; I was busily engaged in working other probable sources of solution.

Mr. Thornton—How about the absence of sawdust where you sawed the limb?

Mr. Bury—We did not remove it. It it is not there now some one else has removed it.

Mr. Thornton—Have you stated to your employers that all the shots were fired outward from the yard?

Mr. Bury—Yes. I don't think they would line from any other point. In an interview with the McWhirter hired girl she said she saw three flashes. She saw them from her bedroom window.

MRS. M'WHIRTER RECALLED.

Mrs. McWhirter was placed upon the stand again. She said in answer to questions: I had the boxes placed beneath the dressing room window on Thursday preceding the shooting. There was a light in the dining room that night, as always has been the case. Mr. McWhirter had been out once before on that night. He had only been out once before at night since we returned from the mountains. That was after we had gone to bed. He has gone out of both front and back doors. In going out the front way he would only remain upon the porch, not entering the yard.

Mr. Thornton—Where did he take the pistol from that night?

Mrs. McWhirter—He took his pistol from under the head of the bed.

Mr. Thornton—Is that the pistol? Did he ever own a pistol like this new Colt?

Mrs. McWhirter—He had an old pistol, but gave it away to my brother while we were in the mountains.

Mr. Thornton—Was there anything in your entire married existence which would tend to confirm the matter of a difference between Mr. McWhirter and yourself?

Mrs. McWhirter—"There was not, sir." In answer to a question concerning the material from which the mask was made, she said: "I have neither stockings nor undergarments which are of a material as the mask here exhibited. Neither had Mr. McWhirter, and I am willing that the jury should examine our wardrobes. The office was built that Mr. McWhirter might have perfect privacy in pursuing his studies—so that the baby might not annoy him." Mrs. McWhirter then, in answer to questions, recounted the occurrence and conversation that marked Mr. McWhirter's fatal trip from the house that morning.

WARD IDENTIFIES.

Mr. Ward identified the second piece of osage orange club as having been cut from a limb in a hedge on San Joaquin street for the purpose of ascertaining whether the club was osage orange.

ALFRED BLASINGAME

was then called to the stand. He said: "I was at the place, in company with Mr. Thompson, Mr. Thornton and Willie, at the time when the holes were found in the gunny sack. We found the gunny sack about fifteen feet from the rear gate. We occupied half a day, and until 10.15 a. m. next day, before we found the hole. Willie and Mr. Thornton found the sack. It was under a stringer of the fence. My brother was down in a corner when he found it. It was somewhat obscured by old boxes.

MR. DAVIS RETURNS.

Mr. Davis returned with his sawdust exhibit, and was put upon the stand again. He critically examined the boards in evidence, and made an impression upon them with the lime-stained hammer. The jurors gathered around and inspected the marks through a magnifying glass. Then Mr. Davis made a critical comparison. This partook of the nature of expert testimony, and occupied several minutes.

AN IMPORTANT FACT ELICITED.

Mr. Thornton to Mr. Davis—Do you find the marks you have made similar to the ones made by the persons who knocked the boards off the fence?

Mr. Davis—No, sir; the marks were undoubtedly made by another hammer.

Mr. Welsh then requested Mr. Davis to take the hammer and drive a nail through the rope into the handle of one of the clubs. He did so and the matter was compared with the appearance of the original nailing.

NO RECENT SHOOTING.

Lee Blasingame took the stand once more. He reasserted that he lived at the McWhirter house. He said that to his knowledge no firearms had been discharged upon the premises since the morning of the murder.

Mrs. McWhirter was recalled and reaffirmed Mr. Blasingame's statement.

W. P. THOMPSON TESTIFIES.

Mr. Thompson—"I am an attorney and one of the counsel in this case. I was among the persons engaged in the search when the mark of the seventh bullet was found." He minutely described the probable course of the bullet, stating that they had examined the posts, trees, curbing and fences in the range of the bullet holes. "We went all over the neighborhood, keeping in line with the general range. It was the next morning when the bullet mark was found. The bullet was partially embedded in a little pine board. It was battered by reason of contact. It had evidently been fired by a man who stood in the alley, between the first gum tree and the gate. We examined the edges made by the bullet's passage and they are new as compared with other holes in the sack. I was well acquainted with Mr. McWhirter and can only corroborate Mr. Baker's statement as to the motives that induced the murder of Mr. McWhirter. The day previous to his death I had no conversation with him concerning a possible attempt to take his life."

A DRAMATIC ACTION.

Dr. A. J. Pedlar, recalled. He was requested to place the pistol in a position that could inflict a wound similar to the one on McWhirter's body. He did so, saying that the wound might have been self-inflicted, but, had it been so, the skin would have been badly burned, as also the clothing. If the pistol had been held against the body it would have blown out some of the flesh around the orifice. The bullet hole was very small and there was no evidence of close contact.

Mr. Welsh then took the pistol and showed how a person could have fired the pistol in any range toward the breast by pulling the trigger with his thumb.

Dr. Pedlar.—"It is my opinion that the shot could have been fired by a man standing near the gum tree, as compared with the shot where the body was found. When found the pistol was 15 or 20 inches from his body." It was his opinion that the pistol was held from ten inches to two feet from the body when the shot was fired.

WILLIE BLASINGAME

Took the stand and confirmed the finding of the bullet hole in the gunny sack, also the fact that no firearms had been discharged on the premises since the morning of the murder.

THE EXHIBITS SEALED.

The exhibits were then marked and sealed up and the attorneys stated the evidence was concluded, it being stated that the jury desired to visit the premises again before retiring to bring in a verdict.

AT THE SCENE AGAIN.

The jury adjourned to the premises and carefully examined the bullet mark recently found. The distance was measured again and again and the jurors were shown the perforated gunny sack and the partially embedded bullet.

In the course of the investigation one of the jurors found another bullet mark in a stringer of the fence. It was carefully examined and shown to have penetrated two one-inch boards.

The bullet was then removed and some of the jurors expressed an opinion that it was a 32-caliber.

Attorney Budd then found another bullet hole in a space between the wood house and the chicken roost. It was a very old one, however, and could not have been made less than a year ago.

A newspaper man in the crowd then located another bullet hole. It was mud-splashed and was of the same caliber as others. All the holes were in a piece of fence about twenty-five feet long.

HUNTING FOR EVIDENCE.

The jurors, lawyers, coroner, detectives and newspaper men went to the lot north of the adjoining property and inspected the osage orange tree where one of the sample clubs had been cut, following which the crowd returned to Judge Holmes' court room. Reaching there the jurors retired to department No. 1 to deliberate upon a verdict.

WAITING FOR A VERDICT.

It was 4.27 o'clock when they retired and at 4.40 they filed into Judge Holmes' room, announcing that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was as follows:

THE VERDICT.

Inquisition of coroner's jury.

State of California, county of Fresno.

Before Dr. E. E. Brown, coroner.

In the matter of the inquisition upon the body of Louis B. McWhirter, deceased.

We, the undersigned jurors summoned to appear before E. E. Brown, the coroner of the county of Fresno, on the 29th day of August, 1892, to inquire into the cause of the death of Louis B. McWhirter, having been duly sworn according to law, and having made such inquisition, after inspecting the body, and hearing the testimony adduced, upon our oath, each and all do say that we find the deceased was named Louis B. McWhirter, was a native of Kentucky, aged about 37 years; that he came to his death on the 29th day of August, 1892, in this county by a gunshot wound inflicted by some person or persons unknown to us.

All of which we duly certify by this inquisition, in writing, by us signed this 10th day of September, 1892.

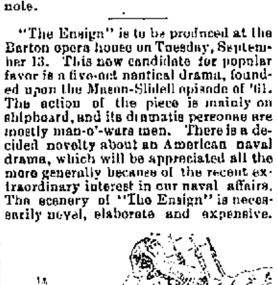
DRAMATIC NEWS.

SPLENDID PLAYS BILLED FOR THE BARTON.

"Little Tippett" to Be Followed by "The Ensign"—Authors and Incidents in the Attractions.

The Harrison and Bell company of comedians will make their first appearance here Monday evening, September 12th in their new play, "Little Tippett," which is an adaptation by Harry and Edward Paulton (themselves the authors of several noted successes) from the French of Alexander Bisson, one of the most successful of living writers of farce and comed. The adapters have produced a play that will pass the gauntlet of the most critical test The intricate French complication is their best and and the story absolutely clean with not a line to offend anyone. The characters of the play are Tippett and Newton, partners in business, Mrs. Tippett and Mrs. Newton, Everard Dunker, the rich uncle and doting guardian of Mrs. Tippett; George Gibbs, the butler of the Tippetts, and his wife, Geranium, who is the nurse of Little Tippett, as well as her own child, Little Gibbs. Tippett and Newton have both been divorced from an adventuress Georgina Brown. Tippett has been estranged from his second wife and at the opening of the play has just returned from a year's stay in Europe and became reconciled with her in a meeting at his office. During his absence a little son has been born, but he is left in ignorance of the fact, his wife wishing to spring the surprise on him when he reaches home. About this time Newton receives a letter from Georgina Brown's lawyer, stating that he is the father of the son born after divorce, and it is intimated that the infant is on the way to him and his delivery can only be stopped by the payment of an exorbitant sum. Newton gets out of the dilemma by altering the letter and and addressing it to Tippett. When, therefore, a nurse appears at the office with a baby and the exclamation, "Here he is," Tippett and Newton assume that the youngster is the son of Georgina Brown. As a matter of fact, it is the son of Tippett by his second wife. On the other hand Mrs. Tippett No. 2, Uncle Dunkon and the Gibbses, know nothing of the suppositious child of Georgina Brown, but the audience is the master of the situation on both sides. On this foundation is built an intricate play of cross purposes that cannot be adequately explained in a few words. In the cast engaged by Messrs. Harrison & Bell are Mr. Charles Bowser, Edward M. Bell, Harry Allen, Harry J. Morgan, Henry Bradley, Charles Harris, Miss Mabel Bert, Miss Marie Lewes, Mrs. Harry Bloodgood and others of equal note.

"The Ensign" is to be produced at the Barton opera house on Tuesday, September 13. This new candidate for popular favor is a five-act nautical drama, founded upon the Mason-Slidell episode of '61. The action of the piece is mainly on shipboard, and its dramatis personae are mostly man-o'-wars men. There is a decided novelty about an American naval drama, which will be appreciated all the more generally because of the recent extraordinary interest in our naval affairs. The scenery of "The Ensign" is necessarily novel, elaborate and expensive. It has been painted by the best scenic artists. One scene, by John H. Young, represents a sectional view of the man-o'-war San Jacinto, illustrating a double action in the play. The main and gun decks of the ship are exposed to the audience just as these sections of a battle ship are worked at sea. To secure an accurate representation of the interior of a war vessel it was necessary for the artist to visit a ship in commission and obtain photographs and studies in color. From these a model was constructed, giving the scene complete in miniature, and this was finally transferred to canvas. The results are stage effects that will thrill even the man o'-wars men with delight.



To rise in the morning with a bad taste in the mouth and no appetite, indicates that the stomach needs strengthening. For this purpose there is nothing better than an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills taken at bed time.

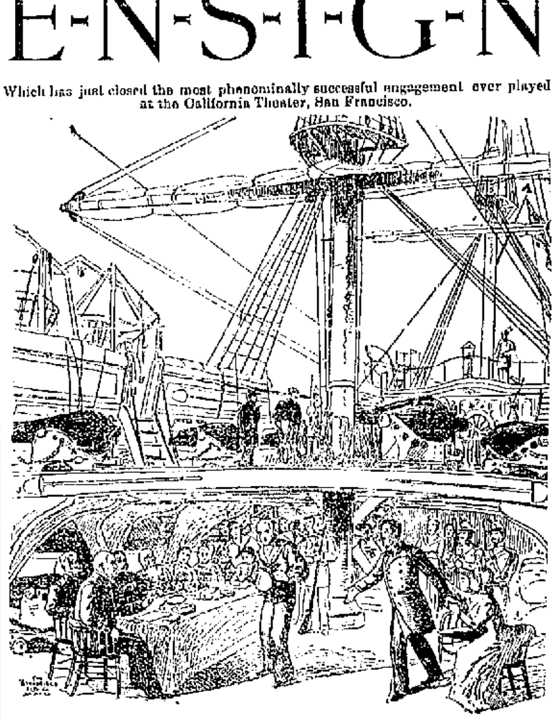
WAIT FOR IT!

First Production in Fresno of the Grand Spectacular and Successful Naval Drama By Wm. Hawthorn

THE E-N-S-I-G-N

Which has just closed the most phenominally successful engagement ever played at the California Theater, San Francisco.



READ

The verdict of the San Francisco Press. Hundreds of People turned away every night. Unable to gain admission. Grandest scenic novelty of the season. It will be presented in Fresno with the original cast and all the scenery used in the San Francisco production.

Examiner—A marvelously interesting naval drama.
Chronicle—It must be set down without qualification as a great success.
Call—The piece is intensely dramatic, picturesque and patriotic.
Post—The most successful play of the season.
Bulletin—As a melodrama it is superior to any we have had.
Argonaut—Few pulpits furnish higher sermons than this melodrama.

Grand Band Concert Every Day!

Ladies and Children 12 Years of Age and Under Admitted to the Grounds Free.

If You desire Fresno county to excel in her Annual Fairs, you must give it your individual support and presence and enter your products and stock for exhibition. The Board has been most liberal in offering $13,000 in Premiums and Speed Contests, but they cannot have a successful fair without your liberal patronage. A charge will be made for exhibitors tickets and for admission of gentlemen to the grounds.

For Premium Lists, space in Pavilion for exhibits, entry of articles and all information desired, apply to Geo. L. Warlow, General Manager, Room 16 Temple Bar Building.

JOHN REICHMAN, Secretary. DR. LEWIS LEACH, President.
